Navy Department Orders Work
Of Enlargement of Big
Derigible Hangars

Associated Press
LONDON, ENGLAND, July 17.—The navy department has ordered the building of 250 feet in the length of the monolithic air hangars to enlarge balloons which are being built at Farnborough today.

This hangar will be the largest in the world, big enough to hold two giant dirigibles under the size of the Zeppelins. Plans for it originally were drawn up by the navy department contracted for the R.S.B., a double-headed large quantity of iron which flew to the United States from England last year.

According to revised specifications the hangar will be 300 feet long, 218 feet wide and 200 feet high. When completed, which probably will be next spring, the big "hangar" and its auxiliary power house, machine shop and offices, will cost about $2,770,000.
